Will Have Housewarming for New Building All Afternoon and Evening.

Party dresses, voile and organdie summer dresses, sport skirts and blouses, mid-summer hats, footwear and other apparel needed to give milady the well dressed look will be shown tomorrow night at the style exhibit which the Yehle Dry Goods Company will give in connection with the formal house warming celebrating the completion of their new building and the installation of new up-to-date fixtures.

In the afternoon from 2:30 to 4 o'clock, an orchestra will furnish music in the second floor salesroom, and punch will be served to the guests. In the evening at 7:30 o'clock, the store will be open to the public for the inspection of the building, equipment and new stocks.

Schumacher's orchestra will furnish music both in the afternoon and evening, and the prize-winning high school quartet will give several numbers at intervals during the style exhibit.

The large show windows are being decorated with the latest styles in summer merchandise as well as the interior of the store. In the east show window is a display of evening and afternoon dresses, dress blouses and a few of the latest accessories. Next to this is a small section showing sport skirts, sport blouses and sport footwear, then comes a display of dainty silk undergarments and corsets. In the background are large cut-out jardinieres and baskets filled with artificial flowers.

In the large west windows are attractive displays of home furnishings, summer silks, fancy parasols and a display of items that always attracts attention—things for the tiny tots. In one island case at the side of the entrance is a display of the latest footwear and in the other is a display of mid-summer hats.

The ledge between the east and center aisles is being arranged for a stage for the style exhibit. On this will be shown party dresses, voile and organdie summer dresses, sport skirts and blouses, mid-summer hats, footwear and other items. There will also be some junior and children's outfits shown.

The styles will be shown on real live models, who will be chosen from among the employees of the store. Those that do not appear on the stage as models will look after the fitting of the garments that are being shown. This is the third time the store has had a style showing on live models, each being conducted by the girls of the store, and it has always been a popular feature.

TELLS WHAT THE RED CROSS DOES

MISS' BETTY TURNER GIVES REPORT FOR APRIL

ACTS AS MANS' AGENTS

Home Service Department Is Claim Agent, Friend, Adviser and Teacher Of Former Soldiers.

"What is the Red Cross doing for disabled soldiers and sailors?" This question is aked almost every day of Miss Bettie Turner, home service secretary of the Nodaway County chapter. The following report made by Miss Turner for the month of April shows part of what the department does:

Services rendered, 114.
Arrears of pay, 2.
Claims filed, 10.
Compensation claims followed up, 12.
General social service, 8.
Insurance, 3.
Investigations requested, 9.
Informations filed, 12.
Notary public services, 52.
Foreign Service pay, 1.
Victory medals, 4.
Equipment, 1.
Vocational training, 5.
Loaned, $20.00.
Received in repaid loans, $15.

"The home service department acts as the former soldier's agent for all claims he has against the government," says Miss Turner. "This involves helping him fill out the numerous and detailed applications, get the necessary affidavits and present his claim in the proper manner.

"Compensation claims, insurance claims, allowance and allotment claims, application for medical treatment or hospital service, reinstatement of insurance, lost liberty bonds, back pay, bonuses, travel pay, subsistence allowance, drill pay, aviation pay, and communication of rations are some of the different claims which a man may have.

"In the beginning the man is instructed how to get directly in touch with the proper government bureau in Washington or its district office. The home service department calls the matter to the government's attention, and if the man fails to get action within a reasonable time, the case is routed through Red Cross channels for a personal inquiry as to what is holding up the case.

While the man is waiting for his claim to be adjusted, if he is in trouble of any kind the home service department tries to help him out. If he is in genuine need, the Red Cross helps him financially. In a surprising number of cases, the men are able to pay back loans made them.

"Strange to say, it is sometimes necessary for the home service department to persuade a man to take advantage of what the government has to offer. Sometimes his family fails to understand what the government provides and counsels him against applying for training.

"I am frequently asked," Miss Turner continued, "why the government does not do what the Red Cross is doing? The government is compelled to confine itself to a standardized service, treating all men more or less alike. The Red Cross can go into all the ramifications of the individual case and help the man in a human, personal way, to overcome his peculiar handicaps and obstacles. The Red Cross is a combination claim agent, friend, adviser, teacher and Houchens served with the regular army in Mexico, going overseas with General Pershing. He visited with Mr. and Mrs. Schoonover here last spring and was discharged that summer. He was married soon after his discharge and now lives in St. Louis.

The coin collection which Mr. Schoonover brought to the Democrat-Forum office includes specimens from France, Germany, England, Australia, Turkey, the Philippines, Greece, Argentina, Belgium and Spain.

BALLOTING IN ULSTER FOR A NEW PARLIAMENT

This First Election is Held Under A New Law Creating Two Parliaments, At Dublin and Belfast

Dublin, May 24.—Balloting is taking place today in the Ulster province for a new Northern Ireland parliament which was created under Irish home rule. This first election is to be held under a new law which created two parliaments for Ireland, one at Dublin and another at Belfast. It is generally conceded that Eamonn DeValora, president of the Irish Republic, Michael Collins, so-called commander-in-chief of the Irish Republican army, and Joseph Devlin, nationalist leader, would all win seats in the Belfast parliament. It is probable that the final result will not be known until Thursday. The Belfast parliament will contain fifty-two members.

WRITES ABOUT A MISSOURI PICNIC

64 FROM NODAWAY AT PICNIC AT LONG BEACH, CALIF.

COLDEN WRITES LETTER

Former Editor of the Nodaway Forum Says Missouri Cooking Was Absent.

Editor Democrat-Forum—If you hunger for an honest-to-goodness picnic let me advise you now to attend a barbecue at Quitman where you feast on the fat of the land, where the fried chicken is corded up like a Toad Hollow woodpile and where the apple pies bloom in their fullness. I attended the Missouri picnic at Long Beach Saturday and saw quite a number of Missourians, heard the old songs, heard a real old darkey do some hoe-down fiddling, listened to some long-winded speeches, did a lot of hand shaking but the real old-fashioned, Missouri cooking with its appetizing fragrance was missing. Somehow when you attend a Missouri picnic you hanker for the spread under the hickory tree, the spreading basket with its riches of jams, preserves and other delicious eats too numerous to mention. Out here in California the cooks are so busy attending the latest movie, electing officers at the woman's club, or running the rubber off of Lizzie that picnic dinners are sort of an afterthought. The picnics are all right and often enough but it is of the picnic baskets of which I complain. It is almost an even race between Long Beach and Los Angeles as to picnics and parades. Most any day you can find a picnic at Long Beach or a parade in Los Angeles, but I'm voting for fewer picnics and bigger baskets. Any woman candidate can win my vote at any picnic if she brings a dinner basket decorated with suitable sideboards and it is accompanied with an earnest invitation to me to participate in the knife and fork ceremonies and if knives and spoons are delinquent I can do my part without leaving in a hungry state of mind.

There's one tavorite Missouri dish that no delicatessen is able to counterfeit, nobody this side of Missouri seems to have the proportions of nicety that give it that epicurean flavor and gastronomic quality which it enjoys in its home state. For some inexplicable reason it rarely intrudes its appearance in public at such plebean places as Long Beach picnics but rather prefers the seclusion of Missouri kitchens where it has no competitor. In some famous Missouri families it is limited to the breakfast table but there are other eminent Missourians who take advantage of this delicacy at morning, noon and night and then nibble again after theatre hours providing opportunity becomes so extravagant with this food for kings—fried mush. Ask Homer Croy. And I have witnessed said Homer of the Knickerbockers chasing literary fame with his typewritter and I have seen him across the table over a plate of fried mush and I leave it to the readers of the Democrat-Forum to decide at which he displays the greatest enthusiasm and ability. If ever I have to do with the fascinating feature of a picnic program I'll open it with fried mush, then after the chicken and pie and cake we will close with fried mush and I feel quite sure that the leading novel writer of Missouri and New York—I

READING OF MISS BLANCHE DOW AGAIN WINS APPLAUSE

"The Woman" Pleases 100 Men and Women at Chamber of Commerce Luncheon.

"You have something better each time. What are you going to do next?" said one of the one hundred men and women who attended the Chamber of Commerce luncheon at the Bainum Hotel last night, at which Miss Blanche Dow of the State Teachers College read "The Woman."

For more than an hour and a half in a room uncomfortably warm, Miss Dow's audience gave her the closest attention. At the first intermission and again at the second and at the end of the reading, the applause was instant and spontaneous.

"The Woman," a strong political play in four acts, was a suitable vehicle for Miss Dow's ability and training. She read the play two weeks ago at the open session of the Twentieth Century club.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE FILM BOOKED FOR SEVERAL SHOWS

The Chamber of Commerce moving picture film will be shown tonight at a meeting of the farm club at the Knabb Schoolhouse, six miles northwest of Maryville. The club has also ordered a comedy which will be shown tonight.

Next Tuesday the film will be taken to the Union Star School, where a community meeting wil lbe held.

The film will also be shown at a dinner of the Albany Chamber of Commerce next Friday evening. R. P. Hosmer, president of the Maryville chamber, and Ernest Wray will make short addresses there, and Secretary George A. Pickens and Loren Price will also attend. On the next night, the film will be shown to the public at Albany.

CLASS PLAY AT S.T.C. AUDITORIUM THURSDAY

Change Made From High School to The College So As To Have More Room.

The class play of the graduating class of the High School will be given in the auditorium of the State Teachers College Thursday evening at 8 o'clock instead of the High School Auditorium. The High School Auditorium can not accomodate as many people as the auditorium can and a capacity house is expected that evening.

This is the first time the class play of the high school has ever been given in the college auditorium.

WILL NEED MANY ROOMS FOR SUMMER STUDENTS

Chamber of Commerce Also Citizens To List Rooms With Mrs. Alice Perrin.

With all indications pointing to an unusually large attendance at the State Teachers College for the summer term, the Chamber of Commerce urges Maryville citizens to open their homes to supply rooms for the students.

"One of the biggest helps toward increasing the student body is to get a sufficient number of comfortable rooms for the teachers who will be in our midst during the summer term, which begins next Monday," says a statement issued at the Chamber of Commerce Rooms. "Everyone who will arrange to rent one or more rooms this summer will be rendering a big help to the State Teachers College. Telephone Mrs. Perrin, Hanamo 146, at once, how many rooms you can rent."

The present term will close tomorrow, and the summer term starts the following Monday. Commencement exercises will be held June 5-7.

SOPHOMORE—JUNIOR SHOCK TROOPS GET ALL TIED UP

Senior-Freshman Combination Is Victorious in First Outbreak of Annual Rivalry.

It doesn't mean a lynching party if you see a number of automobiles loaded with a score or more of young men of determined mien, bearing coils of rope and dragging several captives tied hand and foot. It's merely the annual class fight at Maryville high school in full swing.

Class rivalry reaches its highest pitch and boils over at this time each year, when the juniors and sophomores combine against seniors and freshmen. The battle began last night, and its effects were still visible this morning as those who came off second best in the struggle came straggling into the city from the surrounding country side.

The senior-freshman combination was victorious in three separate scraps during the night. The first was in the alley behind the Electric Theatre, the second near St. Patrick's church and the final scuffle in the band stand in the court house yard. At the end of the third engagement, the sophomore-junior shock troops were for the most part scattered over the surrounding territory in small bunches at distances of from five to fifteen miles and left to loose themselves from their bonds and make their way back to their homes on foot. Some of the defeated warriors were back in an hour and ready for another scuffle, while other saw the sun rise while still miles from home.

A few scattering engagements were reported at intervals today, in which the senior-freshman cohorts still seemed to keep the upper hand. Neither side has attempted thus far to put any pennants on the courthouse tower, the flag pole or anw of the other favorite spots of past years.

VERNE PICKENS RE-ELECTED AT EXCELSIOR SPRINGS.

Verne Pickens, son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Pickens and a graduate of the State Teachers College here, has been re-employed as instructor in manual training and director of athletics at the Excelsior Springs high school. He will receive a substantial increase in salary next year.

48 HOUR TRUCE BY POLES-GERMANS

GERMAN VOLUNTEERS, POLES IN SILESIA FOR TRUCE

FRANCE MAKES THREAT

Premier Briand Says France Will Occupy Ruhr District Unless Germany Withdraw.

Paris, May 24.—A forty-eight hour truce has been arranged between the German volunteers and the Poles in Silesia, it was officially announced here today by the German ambassador.

Paris, May 24.—A direct threat that France will occupy the Ruhr district in Germany immediately unless the German volunteers in Upper Silesia are withdrawn was made today by Premier Briand. Briand informed the German ambassador of France's intentions just before the Chamber of Deputies recovered to resume debate on the government's foreign policy.

London, May 24.—Protestation by high officials that the four battalions of British troops ordered to Upper Silesia by the British government are merely replacements cannot cloak the seriousness of the situation and the real significance of this movement.

While it is given out that the forces may not expect to see any action, and that their purpose is merely to constitute a moral influence on Korfanty's irregulars, it goes without saying that they will be received by Germany and view by France as allies of the Germans against Poland.

There will be no action, certainly, unless the Poles stage an attack. But such an attack may bring about something approaching real warfare.

DID HARVEY EXPRESED VIEWS OF STATE DEPT.

Resolutions Introduced Call Secretary Hughes Whether Views of Harvey Same as Department.

Washington, May 24.—Secretary of State Hughes is called upon to inform the house whether views expressed by the ambassador to Great Britain, George Harvey, as to reasons why America entered the war are the views of the state department. Under the terms of the resolution introduced in the house this afternoon by Representative Flood, Democrat, of Virginia.

Harvey in his speech is reported having stated that America entered the war "to save her own hide" and not for altruistic purposes.

HOBBS CAR DAMAGED FROM COLLISON WITH TRUCK

A car owned and driven by S. W. Hobbs of the State Teachers College collided with a quad truck at the corner of Main and Fourth streets about 2:45 oclock this afternoon, badly damaging the Hobbs car. As Dr. Hobbs was coming east on Fourth streets he was unable to see the traffic coming north on Main street because of the cars parked in the middle of the street, and in order to avert a collison with a car driven by Dr. Vilas Martin, he swerved around and struck the truck, which was also going north.

general fidus Achates of the former soldier, and especially of the disabled man.

"If the people of a locality are indifferent to the welfare of the soldier and are unwilling to help the Red Cross in its service in hospitals and government offices; if it is too much trouble for the local people to hunt up the men and their families and to help them work out their problems, the men of that community must go unserved.

"There are numberless people who long to do something for the soldiers. But there are comparatively few who are willing or are trained, to thread their way carefully and surely through the patient processes of study necessary for any real service to the men. It is often a complicated and difficult piece of wrok and one that calls forth all the self-discipline, the knowledge, ability and ingenuity of the trained worker. If amateurs could always do it, the men themselves would solve their own problems."

mean the leading fried-mush-consuming novelist will be at the head of the table if he has the opportunity.

There were 64 Missourians registered from Nodaway County at the Long Beach picnic and Balk Wright got tied up at the Iowa veterans Club in a game of rook or horseshoe or something and did not arrive. Then there were a number who did not register and also a number of familiar Nodawayians who did not attend. There are undoubtedly several hundred Los Angeles County residents formerly from the best county in Missouri. They are quite fortunate too in having resided in the best county in Missouri and now living in the best county in California. This "best county" stuff affords good material for an argument because every Missourian contends his is the "best county" in the state.

Personal Items.

D. J. Howell, one of the old-timers of Maryville, is a full-fledged Californian. D. J. recited some stirring episodes that occurred in Maryville in the years gone by. Judging bi his testimony there was a time when some of the good sports of Maryville were interested in games other than golf and baseball.

S. H. Conlin, the well known bridge builder of Barnard is looking fit and fine. He lives at Venice an dhas become more efficient at the heavy end of a fishing pole than he is at bridge building.

F. T. Knenster was circulating among the Missourians.

Frank McMacken and W. H. Davis who live in the midst of the movieland of Hollywood are looking as gay and handsome as ever. Joe Maltby of Long Beach, another Burlington Junctioneer, has built a half-hundred houses the past year and sold them all at a good fat profit. George Shelton, a Los Angeles builder, has cleaned up 20,000 bucks the past year.

George Finney of Santa Monica, formerly of Pickering, and J. F. McMullen of Ravenwood are spry old youngsters who are boosting California along.

T. S. Cordill is postmaster at Fort MacArthur and has about the softest job in San Pedro. He lives at Point Firmin and he has three fourteen inch guns pointing at his back door and seven big battleships just beyond the street. With Fort McArthur on one side and the Pacific fleet on the other T. S. is very well fortified. Robert Cordill is the obliging and efficient cashier of the First National Bank. He is married and resides in San Pedro.

C. A. Torrance, son of Hosea Torrance, lives at Long Beach and Mrs. Torrance is one of the beautiful women of Southern California.

C. Sweitzer is another homely Maryvillian who was lucky enough to grab a good-looking wife. They live in Long Beach where Mr. Sweitzer is operating a cigar factory.

Mrs. Robinson, now Mrs. Haney, and her guest of Maryville, Mrs. A. B. Allen were renewing acquaintances with the Nodaway folk.

Mrs. George Glaze of Riverside attended the picnic but Dr. Glaze was too busy extracting painful molars to be present.

Dr. J. J. Carter has had a very prosperous year and is one of the leading physicians of Los Angeles. He has been remarkably successful in a number of difficult operations. He enjoys a wide practice among the wealthy and influential residents of Hollywood. Mrs. Carter is the best known club woman of Hollywood and is the moving spirit in the community singing and the open-air drama of that locality.

Ben Milligan, formerly of Parnell and student at the State Teachers College is superintendent of the Covina schools. A brother was in attendance at the Long Beach Picnic.

Winnie Woodard is holding down a barber shop on South Main street, Los Angeles. Rosco Duncan is a Los Angeles traveling salesman. Ben Litts has shaved his whiskers and the whole Litts family are doing their best to keep Los Angeles the best town on the Pacific Coast.

—J. C. Colden.

Mrs. Will Hughes has returned from Hebron, Nebr., where she attended the funeral services for her brother, Edward Turner, whose death occurred suddenly Friday at that place.

'Twas a Wild, Wild Night With World War Vets on a Rampage

It was a wild, wild night for a score of Maryville's Veterans of Foreign Wars who went A. W. O. L. from business cares last night and celebrated as they used to do in gay Paree.

It all started when Commander Ed Condon, Dr. R. C. Person, and Floyd Tallman emerged from the Bainum Hotel, where they had attended the Chamber of Commerce luncheon. Picking up Tom Hickman, Glenn Flomerfelt, Francis Cummins and Pierre Karr, it was "treats for the crowd" on the commander. Rounds for each of the other members of the group.

Leaving the Maryville Drug Store, the seven comrades consecutively encountered Harry Gray, Purl Shell, Ernest McKee and George Dimas and the treats were repeated four times more. Henderson Aley was the next Vet added to the crowd. His contribution was as many loaves of bread from the South Side Bakery as there were members of the group. To Candyland, the gang trailed, where Comrade Dimas exchanged the bread for smokes, drinks and eats.

Clyde Sawyers was ready to leave for his home in the country, when he was pulled from his car and informed that it was treat night. Raymond Lahr, Theo Robinson and Jack Pennington were added one by one.

With the company recruited to sixteen, the streets were almost deserted. "Get 'em out of bed" was the command. Charles Wiles' number was called on the telephone—"urgent, Central."

"Theo Robinson's car just turned over, and Theo and Ed Condon are rmashed up. They want you right away," was the excited tale poured into Wiles' ear.

"That's awful. I'll be right up." And Wiles hastily threw on trousers and shoes and started out. He was met at the corner with a wheelbarrow unearthed from Doctor Person's cellar. Wiles took a wheelbarrow ride and treated.

"Get Bert Blatter."

"Bert, this is Jack Pennington. We're all out of coffee. Come up and open up." Blatter took a ride in the wheelbarrow and treated.

About this time, (1:30 a. m.) Secretary George Pickens of the Chamber of Commerce was found roaming the street. The secretary bought cigars for the crowd, which then numbered twenty.

"Ray O'Grady? There's a fellow up here that needs a steering arm for his car. He's got to have it tonight." And O'Grady came out clad only in bathrobe and shoes. He took the wheelbarrow ride and treated. His roommate, Hannibal Wright, thought it was a good joke, and he was carried out bodily.

"Olin Kissinger? Fellow up here says he wants to see you. Wants to hire you to go on the road to sell candy. No, he leaves on the early Wabash. Coming up? All right." And Kissinger rode and treated.

Then, at 2 o'clock in the morning, after imbibing every known fountain drink, smoking numberless cigars, and eating wierd concoctions of apples, peanuts, popcorn and ice cream, the veterans who survived the shot and shell, gas and trench fever of France, went home to wrestle with acute indigestion.

GOV. HYDE HAS OFFICE HOURS

OFFICE IS OPEN FROM 11 A. M. TO 3:30 P. M.

MUST AWAIT ARRIVAL

Even Secretary's Is Locked—First Time In History of State Governor Has Office Hours.

The following was taken from the Missouri State Journal:

Visitors at the Governor's office Tuesday were greeted by a notice to the effect that persons having business with Governor Hyde or Secretary Ormiston must see them between the hours of 11 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. This pleasing bit of information was posted on the door leading to the Governor's office from the reception room and was the cause of considerable comment.

Never in the past history of the state has such ruling been made at the office of the chief executive. There have always been times when the Governor was occupied that he declined to see people but his secretary was available at all times and of the business was of such importance as to require it, an interview could be arranged.

Veterans here attending the state convention of the State Encampment of the G. A. R., desiring to see the Governor were denied the privilege of paying him a visit and a large number of complaints resulted.

"This was my first opportunity to visit a Governor of Missouri in his office and as a result of the Governor's policy of seclusion I will be unable to go home with the memory of having visited a Governor in his office," said an old veteran yesterday.

Most of the Governors during the past generation spent most of their time in the outer office during the afternoons and especially so after all mail for the day had been answered.

Governor Stone, Stephens, Dockery, Folk, Hadley, Major and Gardner differed but slightly in the conduct of the office and all were of easy access at any time. On many occasions each of them transacted business in the reception room, but if they were busy their secretaries were always available.

The notice appearing at the Governor's office said:

"Notice, Executive Office."

"The Governor's office is open to the public from 11 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. Entrance can be had only through this door. Please do not attempt to vary this rule as it was made necessary so that detail clerical work can be accomplished. Open from 11 a. m. to 3:30 p. m."

On the three corridor doors leading to the office of Governor Hyde, Secretary Ormiston and the hearing room are the following notices:

"Locked—use reception room."

Old timers who have been transacting business at the Governor's office almost every day for the past thirty years were quite surprised at the appearance of the signs and were unable to account for them.

"Every Governor has had 'detail and clerical work' in addition to his other duties," a man said yesterday, "but it seems that Governor Hyde is the only one who is too busy to see the people who, in many instances, travel miles to get here."

No explanation for the change other than the sign on the door was offered.

The suggestion was made yesterday that the Governor evidently feared some standpat Republican might get on the inside before being noticed. Another suggestion that another McJimsey supporter might jump in and grab an appointment before it could be stopped. The charge is now made that one supporter of the Springfield editor has been designated for a job.

CRAP SHOOTING NOT NEW

Devil Supposed to Be Instigator of The Game.

"Sixty days! Come six! Six you is—read 'em an' weep! We shoots the bank!"

Dice throwing is often considered an American institution, but wrongly so, for there has been dice throwing in every period of history and among every nation of which historians know. On early Egyptian monuments excavated at Thebes were depicted the ancient Egyptians "shooting craps" with a pair of animated dominoes nearly identical with those seen in modern days. Anmong the Greeks and Romans, dicing was a favorite game and there were numerous laws regulating the games played with dice.

The Romans called the magic cubes "tessarae," form the Greek word meaning four, because they were square on each side. Different from the "tesserae" were the "tali," pastern bones of sheep, oblong and marked on only four sides, which were used often by the Romans in games similar to dice. Three "tessarae" and four "tali" were frequently used together in a game known at "alea."

Dice are frequently mentioned in the writings of the ancients and were often the subject of legislation, the laws becoming more strict against dicing as history developed. Justinian, Roman emperor, forbade dicing, and Severus is said to have banished dice players. Ludwig, one of the early Franklin kings was especially severe with dicers and the English monarchs from Richard II to Queen Elizabeth enacted legislation against dicing in particular, along with other games of chance. Cato, a Roman philosopher wrote, "Trocho lude, aleas fuge!": "Play with the top; flee dice-playing." Publius said: "Quanto aleator in arte melior est, tanto nequior est.": "As much more cunning the dicer is in that art, so much more wicked he is." With the spread of the Christian religion dicing became particularly an object of attack by the reformers and saints who condemned all gambling.

The invention of the game of dice is attributed to various persons. A Latin writer states that one Lydi, a Lydian, during the time of famine in his country, invented the game for the people to divert themselves from their misery. A similar legend has the game invented by the Greeks when besieging Troy for the purpose of passing away the time and also the prevent them from eating so much by diverting their minds. Palamedes is often held responsible for the origin of the ivory acrobats about the year 1244 B. C. John Northbrooke, a pious English minister who published a treatise against "games of chance or happe, such as dice-play" in 1557 attributes the invention of dice to the Cevil, and, judging from the text "ye crap shooters of the time of Queen Bess" talked to the dice in highly persuasive terms, also, for the Reverend Northbrooke says: "There cannot be more playne figure of ydleness than dice-playing is. For (beside that there is no exercise of the body or mind therein) they (the players) use great and terrible blasphemings and swearings and wicked brawlings."

NERVOUS FAINTING SPELLS

Mrs. Werner Tells How They Yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Camden, N. J.—"Before my baby was born I was run down and weak, had pains in my back and stomach, was very nervous and would have fainting spells. I certainly suffered awfully with those nervous fainting spells. I did not know anyone at times and used to scream. A doctor treated me for the spells but did not seem to do much good. I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills before so I began taking them again. I soon felt a change and could do my work without pain and was cured of those nervous spells. Now I have a nice fat baby girl and had an easy time at birth, thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. WILLIAM C. WERNER, 1216 Van Hook St., Camden, N. J.

When a wife finds her energies are flagging, she is weak, nervous, suffers from backache, the "blues" she should build her system up at once by taking that standard woman's medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as did Mrs. Werner.

If there is anything about your condition you do not understand write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., in regard to your health.

ABOUT ANTS.

Fortunate is the home in town or country that is free from all ants all the year round.

The larger ants are bad enough, but the very small reddish ones are exasperating.

Ants live in colonies, and locate in well protected places in walls or outside the house.

Ants are attracted to sweets, meats and other foods. Dr. Leonard Haseman of the Missouri State Experiment Station cautions housewives against spilling or unnecessary exposing such foods in the kitchen or pantry, and makes the following suggestions:

An attempt should be made to trail the ants to their nest, so as to destroy the colony with boiling water, coal oil, or carbon bisulphide, putting an end to the trouble, until new colonies move in. If destroying a complete nest is impossible, then resort to baits.

Bloody bones, bits of rags soaked in honey or sugar syrup may be used for baits, to be thrown into fire or boiling water when ants collect on them. This, however, only thins the ranks, and a new crop will renew the attack.

The ant is the wisest of all insects, and it taxes the ingenuity of man to the utmost. Its sense of taste is keen so that strong poison baits are of little use. However, a weak poison bait may be used with success.

Dissolve a cup of sugar in a pint of boling water, adding about one-eighth of an ounce of arsenate of soda. Pour this into a bottle, label it "Poison," and keep out of reach of children. Saturate bits of rag with the poison syrup and drop them in tin cans or in other more or less concealed places. The ants, failing to detect the poison, eat the bait, carry it home, feed it to the queen and in time the whole colony is poisoned.

For ants in lawns, and other places where they and their mounds are a nuisance, make a small hole in the center of a mound with a sharp stick and pour in a cup or more of commercial carbon bisulphide and close the hole by tramping. The fumes of carbon bisulphide will settle down through the mound, killing the entire colony. Keep fire, matches, cigar or pipe away from carbon bisulphide. Boiling water may be used in a similar way to scald out an ant den.

I'd walk a mile for a Camel

The pleasure is worth it. There's no substitute for Camel quality and that mild, fragrant Camel blend.

The fellow who smokes Camels, wants Camels. That's because Camels have a smoothness, a fragrance and a mildness you can't get in another cigarette.

Don't let anyone tell you that any other cigarette at any price is so good as Camels.

Let your own taste be the judge. Try Camels for yourself. A few smooth, refreshing puffs and you'd walk a mile for a Camel, too.

PASTOR WILL REPORT ON FEATURES OF CONVENTION

Rev. J. A. Cooper Will Tell Congregation About Southern Baptist Convention At Chattanooga.

The Rev. J. A. Cooper who returned Saturday from Chattanooga, Tenn., where he attended the 1921 session of the Southern Baptist convention, will give a report of the convention at the midweek service at the First Baptist schurch tomorrow night.

Mr. Cooper will take up the important features of the convention, which with the exception of the Atlanta convention of 1919, is considered to have transacted more important business relative to the future program of the denomination than any of its predecessors.

Among the important plans adopted were those relating to the completion of the $75,000 campaign, the program of evangelism that is circulated to reach all the local churches during the new year and enlist all the members in personal soul winnings; the enrollment of a half million tithers during the year; establishment of another theological seminary, the possible establishment of one or more southwide universities, provision for a new charter of the convention and the rechartering of all the general boards of the body and the southwide educational institutions with a view to safeguarding the denomination of all property held by these boards and institutions; suggestions to the Baptist colleges and secondary institutions that they establish their own standardizing agencies rather than affiliate with independent bodies and provision for the representation of women on the Executive Committee and general boards of the convention after another year.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

(Taken from the Nodaway Democrat of Wednesday, May 24, 1871).

The rain last Saturday night did a wonderful amount of good in this section. The crop prospects were never better.

The excursion to Prairie Park last Saturday, participated by the M. E church Sunday Schools of St. Joseph, Savannah and Maryville, was a very pleasant occasion, about four hundred children being present. We have not learned any particulars, except those given aboxe.

The Albany News says that the track is laid to Severes, five miles the other side of Pattonsburgh on the Chillicothe and Omaha road.

Hogs are said to be lower now than at any time in nine years being sold in St. Louis and Chicago at $3.75 to $4.25. Cattle quoted in fair demand, at $3.50 to $6.25.

For many months it has been a problem to be solved, how Nodaway county could dispose of her paupers, as it was evident the people could not afford to pay the cost of supporting them. The county court, however, disposed of the question, and the paupers too, for that matter, by buying a poor farm, the county poor are all able to live without assistance now. The prospect now is that the Poor Farm will be for rent.

A colony of a dozen or so families from the neighborhood of Sweet Home passed through town yesterday, under the leadership of Mose Stingley, on their way to Colorado. We would hope that they may better themselves, but is like the minister said in regard to praying for rain with the wind from the northwest—a hopeless undertaking.
